Ever hear of deviled cottage eggs? It's a tasty salad thought up by nutritionists at VPI.

You'll need 4 hard-cooked eggs, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 teaspoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon chopped olives, 1 tablespoon pickle relish, 1/2 to 3/4 cup cottage cheese with chives, 1/4 teaspoon salt, and 1/8 teaspoon pepper.

Cut eggs in half lengthwise and remove yolks. Mash yolks and add mustard, vinegar, chopped olives and relish. Add cottage cheese, mix well, and season with salt and pepper. Refill egg whites with mixture, piling it high. Sprinkle with paprika. Serve in lettuce cups.

And for another salad featuring cottage cheese, try chive cheese mold. Use 1 package lemon-flavored genatin, 1 cup hot water, 1 cup cold water, 1/2 large avocado, 1 cup chive cottage cheese, 6 tablespoons mayonnaise, and 1/3 cup chopped pecan meats. Dissolve flavored gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until syrupy. Mash avocado. Mix with cottage cheese, mayonnaise, and nutmeats, and add to thickened gelatin. Pour into mold and chill. Garnish with orange slices or segments. Serves 6.

If you want your cream puffs to really "puff" and increase in volume, be sure not to overcook the mixture of water, fat, and flour. Take the mixture off the stove when it leaves the sides of the pan and forms a compact ball.

Mosquito Control

It's picnic time and that means mosquito time, too.

Entomologists at VPI say you needn't suffer too much though. There are several ways to get rid of mosquitos on hand, and to keep more from breeding.

It's a good idea to drain and fill in low areas. Treat water left standing around with DDT oil mixtures.

For large-scale treatment of a whole community, the experts suggest spraying with an airplane to reduce the number of adult mosquitos. One airplane application of 2/10th of a pound of DDT per acre should reduce the mosquito population between 80 and 90% for 10 or 12 days.

If you and your neighbors can organize a general spraying campaign in your neighborhood, you can reduce the mosquito menace in your area. Spray all hedges, low trees, shrubs, tall grass, and other mosquito nesting places. A 2½ to 5% DDT emulsion will last from 10 days to 2 weeks.

Ever tried serving milk in glasses that have been chilled in the refrigerator?

VPI nutritionists say that during the warm summer months, milk tastes even better when it is served icy cold. A glass that's been on a cupboard shelf in a hot kitchen will quickly warm the milk. Why not try keeping a few empty glasses in the refrigerator this summer? Then when you want a truly cold glass of milk for between-meal snacks, or at mealtime, your frosty glass will help make good, refreshing milk taste even better.

FORESTS IN THE MANAGEMENT OF OUR LOCAL WATERSHED

Water is considered to be one of the most valuable products that our land can produce. It is the subject of most of our conversations, you read about it in the newspapers, and feel the lack of it in crop production during period of drought. Because of our lack of understanding of the problems dealing with water and its control we have too often just let nature take its own course. We have only to read the newspapers to know that nature left uncontrolled can cause unheard of destruction, even in taking human lives. You can drive through the countryside to see how man has treated our great heritage . . . the soil-eroding slopes scarred with gullies, stream banks washing away, the river channels filled with sand and gravel, and the streams running red with mud.

It is a long recognized fact that water produced by forest land increases in importance as needs for water grow. We must keep in mind always that we must learn how to manage vegetation so as to control water holding capacity of the surface runoff. The woodlands are used for grazing, grazing practices which reduce the ability of any soil to absorb water in its capacity as a reservoir for water, which ensures a well balanced reservoir is maintained in such a way a landowner can get the most out of his timber. The problem is not the individual. Careful and effective support should be given to the establishing a good management program.

In January, 1956 the U. S. recognized the independence of United States by the Treaty of Paris.

Stonewall

Stonewall, July 26.- We have had some nice weather since the rain came, and we are so thankful for the nice rain. It surely has helped everything.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemp Nixon, of Lincolnton, N. C., spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Burnette.

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles Spain and family, of Robertsdale, Alabama expect to arrive here this week for a vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Parks Jennings. Our good pastor, the Rev. Floy Cox, has asked the Rev. Spain to preach for him at Hebron next Sunday morning, but I don't know his answer as yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carson had as their dinner guests on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Davis Smith and son, Mr. Jessie Davidson and Mr. Royall Harding, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bondurant and family and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Davidson and son spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. White Clay at Gladys.

Mrs. Hugh Braford and baby son have returned home from the Virginia Baptist Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beard and son, Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carson, the Rev. Floy W. Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Carson visited Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Chick over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Collins, of Lynchburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Dickerson and son, Fred, of Spout Spring spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Caldwell. Mrs. Caldwell and Mrs. Dickerson visited Mrs. W. W. Paulette last week. She has just returned from a hospital in Richmond, much improved. She lives at Drakes Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Tilton Lee and children spent Sunday at Rustburg with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wash Wheeler.

We are so happy to know little Brad Wheeler has returned home from the hospital, after being there several weeks. So glad he is doing nicely.

Mr. Randolph Martin preached at Bethel and Trinity churches Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. F. J. Wingfield, who is away at school for several weeks. Mr. Martin preached a grand sermon. He is one of the young men from around here who is attending college. We hope for him much success in his life's work as a minister.

Hixburg

Hixburg, July 26.- Watkins McPhillips, who was shipped out on January 5, is stationed in Kaiserslautean, Germany. On July 23, he had been in training one year.

Henry McPhillips, who volunteered in the Air Corps, has been in the service nearly four years. He is stationed in Japan, and is due for discharge next December.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Erwin and Sam, of Mount Ulla, N. C., and T/Sgt. John T. Erwin, of Denver, are expected to spend next week-end July 31 - Aug. 1, at the home of Mr. W. D. Hix, Jr.

Harwood Hix likes his new job with General Electric in Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Crote Carson, Linda and Tommy were last week-end guests in the home of his father, Mr. Ernest Carson.

Buddy Carson is attending Lynchburg College this summer.

PLAN LEGAL OBSERVANCE AT WILLIAM AND MARY

Williamsburg, Va.- Plans for an impressive legal celebration in September at the College of William and Mary are moving into high gear according to Dr. W. Melville Jones, executive director of the Marshall-Wythe-Blackstone Commemmoration Ceremonies.

"It's shaping up as one of the most impressive ceremonies William and Mary has ever undertaken," said Dr. Jones, "and we're anticipating one of the largest arrays of dignataries that have ever converged on the 261-year-old campus."

Chief Justice Earl Warren has already accepted an invitation to participate in the ceremonies, according to William and Mary President Alvin Duke Chandler. Invitations have also been extended to the eight associate justices of the Supreme Court, said Chandler, "and to other distinguished legal experts throughout the English - speaking world."

Chandler said that although the celebration is still more than two months away, he is "quite gratified with the response and enthusiasm that has been exhibited thus far. It will easily be one of the largest celebrations that the College has ever sponsored."

More than 2,500 brochures outlining the celebration were mailed last week to attorneys, law schools and bar associations throughout the country, according to Dr. Jones.

Featured in the celebration will be unveiling of busts of John Marshall George Wythe, and Sir William Blackstone. It will commemorate the beginning of the 200th anniversary of Marshall's birth and the 175th anniversary of the establishment at William and Mary of the first chair of law in the United States.

The William and Mary Law School Association voted last year to hold the celebration "to emphasize the vast influence which the three jurists have had upon American jurisprudence."

The ceremonies will also serve to inaugurate the first chair of taxation at the College of William and Mary and to rededicate the Anglo-American Bench and Bar to its traditions of representative constitutional government.

When the busts are unveiled in September, it will mark the second step within a year that William and Mary has taken to honor its first professor of law, George Wythe, and his renowned student, John Marshall.

The first step was taken last fall when the College's Board of Visitors voted to change the name of the William and Mary law school from the Department of Jurisprudence to the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

As the second oldest law school in the English world, it is antedated only by the Vinerian professorship at Oxford, established in 1758 and held by Blackstone.

The William and Mary law school is 38 years older than Harvard's and 79 years older than the law school at Columbia University.
